President's Message May 2014

Random thoughts....

The NYS legislature is considering a bill to allow only one license plate on a vehicle (on the rear). And it will only cost you $50 per year! Ah, the power of the marketplace - only in NY does it cost you more to have less.

Talk about globalization - many car companies (U.S. and European) are introducing 1.0 litre in-line 3 cylinder engines, usually turbo-charged, in the United States. That's about 60 cubic inches. And many are also introducing 1.5 litre in-line 4s, also turbocharged (about 90 cubic inches). Why? Because these are significant engine sizes for tariff purposes - in China. More and more, cars are developed for worldwide markets.

Now how's this for a juxtaposition - just saw a story about Jay Leno's 1930 Bentley retrofitted with a Rolls Royce Merlin V-12. That's an aircraft engine, weighs over 3 tons, 27 litres - about 1,620 cubic inches! Talk about one end of the spectrum to the other.

Don't you think there are probably tens of thousands of car shows, cruise nights, car tours, etc., throughout the U.S., most certainly in the Summer when cold weather retreats from our northern climes? (I'm not sure about that retreat this year - what lousy weather!) Interest in antique cars/classic cars seems alive and well. It will be interesting to see what the future brings, continued growth, or contraction.

Be well.

Matt

Vice-President's Message

Greetings everyone,

It was good to see most of our snow birds back at our April meeting. I hope the recent nice weather has afforded everyone a chance to get out for a ride, or at least start getting their cars ready for the summer season.

Speaking of getting cars ready for the summer season, most of us consider an oil change as part of the annual ritual. As most of you know, the oil industry has been making changes in the formulation of modern engine oils. In the last few years, less than five, there has been a gradual but significant in the reduction in the zinc and molybdenum content, among other trace elements. O.K. I am not a chemist, but the way I have seen it explained, these newer oil formulations do not provide adequate, if any, lubrication when starting an older engine. Yes, the internal design of modern engines has changed too. Gone are the flat lifters for the valve train, among other small changes. You may have noticed many of the new cars are specifying full synthetic oils in viscosity ratings that closely resemble water, not oil as we grew up with. What are we to do? Fortunately, there are some simple answers. Specialty oils for vintage vehicles are available from several businesses that cater to our hobby. There is a price tag for these oils but that is small compared to the cost of an engine rebuild. I owe credit to Steve Bono, respected mechanic and restorer of antique automobiles for another simple answer. Oils designed for diesel engines are still "real" traditional formulations like our engines need. Look for the HD designation, specifying diesel engine oil, in your choice of viscosity.

Another internal change in engines, many years ago, was the advent of hardened valve seats due to the introduction of un-leaded gasoline. We have all learned to live with this and keep our bottles of lead substitute handy. Then came ethanol. Sure, there are stabilizers available but they are only stop gap and don't really protect older fuel tanks, lines, pumps, and carburetors. There are rumors that the ethanol supplementing of our gasoline supply may be starting to be phased out, for several reasons I shall not go into. In the meantime, there are a few service stations where non-ethanol gasoline is available. This is still an un-leaded product, but much better for our special cars. I would like to be able to provide our members of a listing of these select stations throughout our region. Neither Wayne Drumlins nor I are specifically endorsing any of these retailers, but simply offering hopefully useful information to our members. I need everyone's help.

For starters:

Dobbs Family Auto

115 West Ave. Canandaigua

I would like to thank Jean Empson for her suggestion of a trip to the Windmill Mall for shopping and their car show. I'll let Jean fill you in on the particulars.

Dick

Serious senior moment here.

I completely forgot to mention Brenda and I are hosting our annual Wayne Drumlins porch party on Saturday, July 12th this year. Tentative menu includes garbage can turkey, ham, and mixed grill. Sides will likely include German potato salad, fruit salad, macaroni salad, lettuce salad, and baked beans, and deviled eggs if all goes well. Chow down should be around 1pm. Special vehicles welcome, weather permitting.

Note from Dave -

For any club member who would like a shirt/top with a picture of their car on it, any location and any size, Laurie of Custom Trophies can provide it. Send Laurie a digital image of your car, a high resolution image will reprint best. Prices are $10 and up depending on the shirt type. Visit Laurie at: custom Trophies, 110 Cuyler Street, Palmyra NY 315-597-6966.

A few photos from our trip to the Glenn Curritts Museum. We had a great "sunny" afternoon. There was an unexpected visitor from the Twin Tiers Vintage Car Club. Ginny and her husband read in the "Headliner" that we were going to be there and just popped in with their antique auto. They put us to shame, we all drove our newer cars. Weather had not permitted us to get them out of winter storage.

The "Ladies Luncheon" was sure a hit with all us girls. We had a delicious meal at "Peppers" in Canandaigua and great conversation. A couple of us did a little shopping as long as we were out and about.
