President's Message June 2011

Letter to members of Wayne Drumlins,

It sure feels like summer now that it's not raining every day, so get that old car back on the road if you haven't already. Our club had a great turnout for the Wheels on Main Street Memorial Day Celebration in Waterloo. There were at least nine cars from Wayne Drumlins members. Everybody seemed to be having a good time seeing old friends and showing off their cars to the crowd in Waterloo, NY. It was wonderful to see Ron and Sue Van Camp enjoying the sunny weather in their 1966 Ford convertible. It's been a long haul for Ron and we sure respect the courage and stamina he has shown. Thank you Bev and Bob Good and friends in Waterloo for organizing this show again. Everything went well as usual so few knew of all the extra challenges that the Goods faced this week. It must have been a nice weekend for Norwich also so I hope it worked out well for everyone who made the journey.

Today was in the 90's so I finally repaired the convertible to be ready for ice cream runs again. Maybe I should have fixed the A/C in the house instead, but you know how it is with car guys. Matt will helm the meeting on June 15th as Martha and I will be in Rochester for the Jazz Festival. I'll see you at one of the local cruise nights this month or at the show in Newark.

Loren Gifford

Carlisle, PA - 2011

Our annual trek to Carlisle began on Tuesday, April 26, with a leisurely trip to the area, check in at the motel, soaking up of some long awaited sunshine and dinner. Wednesday came and the fun began. One of the first items on our list was to pick up some parts for Carl. As you can see in the above picture, Carl directed Pete up the hill with his gas tank. If you have ever been to Carlisle, you know “the Hill” I’m speaking of. We all had a good day. On Thursday, the rainy day, we decided to go to Hershey, visit the AACA Museum and the Chocolate Factory and do a little touring. (See the pictures below and the write-up). It was amazing. On Friday, we headed back to Carlisle. We had another great day and made a few more purchases—ask Pete. On Saturday, we headed home with Carlisle 2011, a memory.

Hershey, Pennsylvania, In the 1920’s

This section of the museum is devoted to automobiles and scenes of the 1920’s. The major painting shows a view of Hershey’s downtown district with the Hershey Chocolate Factory in the background. Some of these buildings are still standing today. Examples include the Hershey Trust (currently PNC Bank), and the Old Press Building (now housing the Devon Seafood Grill and Houlihan’s Restaurant).

The two collages on the adjoining wall depict a collection of advertising paraphernalia for Hershey’s products of that era. The scene shows many of the buildings and landmarks pertinent to the life of Milton Hershey, including his birthplace, house of worship, homestead and the many results of his philanthropy. Many of these structures stand today and can be toured by visitors.

From a close look at the large mural, one can envision how busy downtown Hershey must have been during the roaring 1920’s.

These artistic renditions of Hershey were created by professional artist Dave Naydock of Pottsville, PA

(from AACA Museum at Hershey, PA)

If you get a chance, you should stop and see this.

AACA Annual Meeting -Philadelphia, PA

Marty and Betty Reilly flew up from Florida to attend AACA's 75th Anniversary Annual Meeting held at the Sheraton Philadelphia Center Hotel, February 11-12, 2011.

We arrived on Friday, February 11, and browsed the vendor booths in the trade show and attended a couple of seminars in the afternoon. There was also a very lively AACA Museum auction in the evening which had some neat items sold for the benefit of the Museum and turned out to be a fun event.

On Saturday morning we attended the National Judging Seminar and in the afternoon the General Membership Meeting. In the evening we attended the dinner banquet followed by the awards ceremony and were honored to receive the 2010 Minicycle Award on stage for our 1963 Cushman Silver Eagle from AACA 2010 President, Terry Bond.

We had a delightful weekend despite cold wintry weather in Philadelphia but we had such a busy schedule each day we were inside most of the time. We had a good flight back to Florida on Sunday to the sunny warm weather we had been experiencing and reminisced of our enjoyable trip.
